The Brutally Honest Truth About
Prosperity, Abundance and Money

Part 5

Welcome to another episode of the Ultimate Freedom Teachings video series.

Hey, Robert here, and welcome to this fifth video in the Brutally Honest Tuesday series called “The Brutally Honest Truth About Prosperity and Abundance.” If you have not watched the other four videos, 1-4 in this series, my strong suggestion to you is stop now. Go back and watch the other four, and then pick it up here, because they were all designed to build one on the other, to combine, to paint a complete picture that gets revealed in this particular video.

So, welcome again. We’ve come a long way together in terms of taking a brutally honest look at what prosperity and abundance really are, what they really aren’t and opening the door to discovering what True (with a capitol T) prosperity and abundance really are, through my biased eyes, which is all that I can share with you here.

So most people, as we talked about in the previous videos, when you talk about prosperity and abundance, it almost always includes stuff related to money and stuff, and things. And that’s fine. What I now consider, after an extraordinary journey—and if you know the language I know, and the teachings, knocking out an enormous amount of cloud cover and playing in more and more and more sunshine—a very radically different definition of what prosperity and abundance really are.

It became very clear to me, first as an idea and a concept, and then as an experience. And that’s what I want to share with you here in this video. Certainly, any definition of prosperity and abundance, to one degree or another, again taking into account things I shared in the first four videos, does in fact include money and stuff and things, to one degree or another, uniquely customized and tailored for each of us as individuals.

But it’s actually so much more than that, and money, stuff and things fit into an overall context that’s far more important and that needs to be there in order for it to be true prosperity and abundance, which means an experience that really brings you whatever you want to call it – joy, fulfillment, a totally awesome life across the board, really enjoying things, being what I call Forever Free from Negativity.

And so let’s take a look at that now, because what it became so clear to me on my journey is that what I call true prosperity and abundance includes nine things. And I could probably make the list a little smaller and combine some things, but I wanted to break it into pieces so that you could see really clearly what to me, and then I will invite you to consider whether it might work for you, what true prosperity and abundance really are, what it really means to experience it.

And I did not see any of this. I had no clue about the nine things, and the significance of each of the nine things, until again, using my language and the teachings that I share, I knocked out an enormous amount of cloud cover after an extraordinary journey that unfolded over many, many, many years.

And so let’s take a look at it now.

Okay, so here are the nine things:

1. Discovering who you really are.

And I underlined really to contrast it from who you think you are at the idea, concept, logical, understanding sort of a level. Now to my bias, who you really are has two levels to it, and it's very important to be crystal-clear on who you are at both levels.

1. Spiritual level. You might call this Truth (with a capitol T), the spiritual level, the behind the scenes level, who you really are from a bigger picture kind of a perspective.
2. You might call it the personal or practical level of who you really are. At the personal and practical level, I'm Robert, and there's certain things about what I refer to now humorously as the Robert character that have to do with who this Robert person really is at a personal, practical day-to-day kind of a level.

And again, it's critical to experience true abundance and prosperity, and it's what happens naturally and automatically when you do that you have crystal clarity about who you really are at both levels. You may think that you already know who you are at one or both levels, but the odds are, if your journey is like mine was, that you're missing a few, key puzzle pieces about that, even if you think you've really got it down.

2. Actually experiencing who you really are at both levels, including the spiritual level.

Actually experiencing it. That's where the power comes from. Not understanding it, not being able to get an A on a test, not ideas, concepts, theories, philosophies or whatever, but actually experiencing who you really are at both levels.

3. Discovering what your TRUE mission and purpose are.

True, again, I put in all caps and yellow, because it's the Truth about it (with a capitol T), not lies, illusions and stories, not ideas and concepts, but discovering what your true mission and purpose are.

My bias is, you may have heard me say this before, all of us come into this human experience, this human story as I call it now, with specific things that we want to play with, we want to explore and we want to experience. And I call that mission and purpose. There's a theme to our lives. There's something specific that we came here to do or be or experience, or whatever you want to call it.

Similarly, mission and purpose also has two levels to it:

1. Spiritual (once again)
2. Personal (once again)

And you must understand and have crystal clarity, and this does come when you experience true prosperity and abundance, what your true mission and purpose are at both levels.

4. Discover what The Real You, who you really are, really wants for your life.

Which can be radically different from what you think you want from your life, what you might ask a magic genie for right now if one appeared in your life, or the kinds of specific things that you've been going about getting or that you've been telling people or yourself that you really want.

You've got to discover what who you really are, the real you, really wants for your life, what really aligns with your mission and purpose on a day-to-day, practical kind of a level, what would really make you feel happy and fulfilled, what would really solve your problems, help you to overcome your challenges or whatever, as opposed to the things that you think would.

This started for me after I was able, by applying the teachings that I shared, to peel away layer after layer after layer after layer of what I call lies, illusions and stories about who I really am and what I really want. And that journey, the peeling away, and then discovering, getting more clear on it, beginning to experience what I just talked about continues to unfold today in my journey.

And I now, and when it started, and as it continues, I look at it as one of the most delicious, extraordinary and amazing experiences, discovering who I really am on all levels, discovering what I really want given who I really am, and then seeing—which we'll talk more about in a minute—everything in my life start to align with who I really am and what I really want, and being able to experience the deliciousness of that. Okay, let's continue.

5. Discover what has REALLY been blocking you from getting what you really want.

Now, if you've spent any amount of time in what might be called self-help, personal development, spiritual development, you're aware of all kinds of things that can be blocking you or sabotaging you, whatever, and it can, depending on your interest, it can have to do with the subconscious mind, the way the brain is wired, karma, past lives.

There's all kinds of options. Energy blockages, wounding from childhood, whatever else. There's all kinds of things that we're told are blocking us, and they all have validity from certain perspectives. But to experience True (with a capitol T) prosperity and abundance, you must discover what has really been blocking you from getting what you really want.

And again, I'm talking here about what the real you really wants for your life that aligns with your mission and purpose. You must understand first what has really been blocking you from either knowing that or experiencing it.

6. Remove those blocks so they never again limit you, restrict you, or drive you crazy like they have been.

This is to me what's part of true prosperity and abundance is that you discover what these blocks are, on top of the other things, and they get removed, fully, completely and permanently so they never again limit you, restrict you or drive you crazy like they have been.

7. Fully, completely and permanently shift how you see, and more importantly, Experience yourself, others and the world, not as an idea or a concept or technique to change things, but as a permanent shift that becomes your natural way of being, 24/7, no matter what's going on.

8. Permanently shift how you Experience your thoughts, mind, emotions, body and Everything that happens to you every day in what I now Inner Space, which is what happens inside of you, and Story Space, which is what happens with your body and in the world.

And again, we're talking about experience shift, not some new idea, some new theory, some new philosophy, some new technique, a permanent shift to how you see and experience all of this.

9. Shift things so radically that what you really want, again which can be very much different and opposed to what you think you want right now, shift things so radically that what you really want starts appearing on its own, naturally and automatically.

Without you having to constantly set goals, set targets, set intentions, Without you having to come up with strategies and keep adjusting your approach when they don't work, Without you being confused about which path to follow to get what you want from the 20 gazillion options screaming out to you in today's world, Without you feeling like you're constantly pushing against resistance and struggling to get where you want to be.

All of this is part of what true prosperity and abundance mean to me, and what I'm experiencing, and what thousands, thousands and thousands of people all over the world who've embraced the teachings that I share are experiencing too.

So the obvious gazillion-dollar question then is "How do you do it? How do you actually experience the nine things that I just talked about?" Well the truth is, there's an infinite number of options and possibilities for how it could happen for you as a unique individual. And what I have to tell you is there is only one path, there is only one journey, whatever you want to call it, that worked for me in order to enable me to experience the nine things that we just talked about.

And as it turns out, when I started to share this all over the world in a variety of different ways – books, events, courses, online experiences, coaching programs, whatever – many, many, many, the vast majority of the people that came into my sphere of influence discovered the teachings and began to experience the nine things that I just talked about, told me the same thing.

"I tried so many other approaches. I tried so many different things. This is the only thing that ever worked for me." So what I want to invite you to do, and your path may be different, but what I want to invite you to do is to take a look at the path that I offer, the path that worked for me, the path that has worked for now thousands, tens of thousands, perhaps even hundreds of thousands, I don't know, people all over the world, different ages, different races, different creeds, different cultures, different backgrounds, different issues, different whatevers in their unique lives.

And I want to invite you to take a look at the only path that I ever found that worked to actually lead to a consistent experience of the nine things that I just shared. And I invite you to consider it, just in case it might be the path that would really lead you there too.

I created a free video-based training that will tell you all of the details of what I just talked about, exactly how it works and exactly how it can benefit and transform your life and lead you to the experience of the nine things that I just talked about.

To get the FREE training, just go to this URL. You can see it on your screen.

<http://scheinfeldcommunications.com/youtube5>

Which is for the YouTube fifth video in this series. Or if you happen to see a purple button like this, based on where you're seeing this video, beneath the screen, you can click on that button.

Get Immediate Access

So your options are to go to this link, depending on how you're seeing this, or click on a purple "Get Immediate Access" button that you may see, depending on where you're watching this video, and you will get immediate access to the free training. Or, you can click on the link below the video in the description area if you're watching this video on YouTube.

Well, once again, we have now come a really long way together in this five-part series. And my hope, and my intent, and my desire is that you've found it interesting, entertaining, stimulating, perhaps shook you up a little bit, make you take a fresh look at things that you've taken for granted or have just accepted, beliefs or assumptions that have been in front of you before. So I hope that you've found it valuable.

If you did, I invite you, if it's possible based on where you're watching this, to leave a comment beneath this video to share a-ha's, lightbulbs, things that it set into motion for you, value or benefit, and to share it with others, again, if you found value in it.

I would appreciate that for myself and also the opportunity to give other people the gift of seeing and pushing on prosperity and abundance, the lies, illusions and stories about it, and giving people the opportunity to at least consider an alternative way of looking at it in the way that I share it with you here.

Now I also invite you to enroll in the free training that I mentioned. Do it right now while it's fresh on your mind. You can do that through a link that you'll see on the screen. You can do that, if it's possible based on how you're watching this video, based on a button or a link or something that would be beneath this video.

But I invite you to register for that training right now and begin to go through it. You can always stop or unsubscribe, or whatever else, if you find that it isn't your cup of tea, but I invite you and give you a gentle but firm urge and push to do that right now.

So thanks for following with me on this five-part journey into the Brutally Honest Truth About Prosperity and Abundance. Thanks very much for the time and the energy in spending it with me here, and I will look forward to our next form of contact, whatever shape that may take. Okay, bye-bye for now.
